HENRY PFEIFFER LIBRARY

Home :: Library

The Henry Pfeiffer Library is located in a three story building of Georgian architecture, with seating for 275 at the corner of Beecher and Clay.

The library provides students with information resources in electronic, paper, and micro formats, as well as instruction in accessing and using them. The library subscribes to approximately 125 periodicals in paper, and several thousand are available full-text online. Pfeiffer Library holds approximately 130,000 book volumes and is a selective depository of United States government documents. Internet resources are carefully selected and made available via the MacMurray website to all computers on the MacMurray campus network.

The United States government is the largest publisher in the world. They publish materials in a variety of formats, from book-length texts to pamphlets, from microforms to CD-ROMs. Lately more and more materials are being published in an electronic format.

The Henry Pfeiffer Library is a partial Government Depository. As such, we receive shipments of physical materials that we catalog. Some are placed in the circulating stacks, but most go into the Government Documents Room. If you need one of these resources, ask one of the staff members, and they will retrieve it for you.

It is also possible to narrow your search by setting limits on your search. After going back to the catalog home page and searching for global warming, just click on the “Set Limits” button near the top of the page.

Online Book Catalog

Click in the box next to the limit(s) you would like to place, type or select the appropriate limit(s), and click the "Set Limits" button at the top or the bottom of the page. To clear the existing limits, click the "New Search" button on the toolbar.

On this screen you can narrow your search to find books published during a certain time period, by format (books, music, non-print, etc.), and by collection. Keep in mind, that books in the Archives, Cartwright Room, and Reference may not be checked out.
